Conditions Were Partly Attributable to Occurrence of Jewish Holiday.

SHRINKAGE OF SURPLUS

Early Contraction of Loan Accommodation of New York Banks Must be Enforced.

Banks Must be Enforced.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Prices of stocks lost ground again to-day and there was a decided shrinkage in the volume of business. This was partly attributable to the occurrence of the important Jewish holiday of Yom Kippur, the observance of which kept a large element away from the session of the Stock Exchange. The appearance of wakness was most acute at the time the corn market was strongest, giving a suggestion of the factor of greatest influence on sentiment. The movement in both markets was not based on immediate news developments, but on the appearance of estimates of the volume of the crop by experts who have won some following in the course of the recent active speculation in wheat and in stocks. These estimates were of a total crop of less than two billion bushels compared with a crop indicated by the government's figures of September 1 of $2,491.

700,009 bushels. There was increasing discussion also of the money outlook, based on the Saturday bank statement. The effect of this statement was a 2 per cent, rate for call loans and a firmer tone for time loans and shorter period. With the surplus reserve cut in two in three weeks and the larger part of the crop-moving demands yet to be met. It is obvious that an early contraction of the loan accommodations of New York banks must be enforced. Confidence is felt that this may be done without tringency of money. Sterling exchange ran of to-day in response to the firmer money market, but discounts also bardened and gold ross in London. The closing was very dull and heavy, but above the lowest.

The bond market was easy. Total sales, par value, $3,45,600. United States 2s advanced 1-4 on call.

The total sales of stocks for the day were $25,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Money on call steady; highest 2; lowest 13-4; ruling rate 13-4; last loan 13-4; closing bid 13-4; offered at 13-4. Time loans slightly firmer; sixty days, 23-4; ninety days 363-14; gix months, 23-464.

Prime mercantilo paper, 465 per cent, sterling exchange weak; closing steady, with actual business in banker's bills at $484.456 for sixty-day bills.

Posted rates 485 and 487-1-2. Commercial bills, 483-3-56484-2. Bar silver 571-8. Mexican dollars, 451-2.

"The Fatal Wedding" is a melodrama with all of those qualities so dear to the heart of those who like nothing better than an evening's entertainment such as a piece of this type affords. The melodrama will always have a place upon the stage, and no form of theatrical amusement will answer as a substitute for it. And in its way, the melodrama serves a purpose, and despite its mock-heroics, and often its cheap sentiment, it is far more wholesome than some of these latter duy plays.

While the audiences witnessing the two while the andereces witnessing the two productions of the play at the Academy yesterday were not evenly distributed throughout the house, the galleries being very much more in evidence than the or-chestra at both performances, they were nevertheless what would be termed "good houses."

houses."

The play was produced at the Academy last season, and is therefore familiar to the patrons of that house. That it pleased last season accounts for the size of the audiences witnessing it yesterday. The cast was a capable one. The child, "Baby Virena," was exceptionally bright and clever as "Jessie, the little mother." There are several striking scenes in the play, one of them being the evening wedding in the famous Grace Church, New York, and another showing the Palisades of the Hudson during a snow storm.

The Peddler at the Bijou.

The Peddler at the Bijou.

The Bijou this week has one of the best offerings in the shape of melodrama that has probably ever played at that house. Joe Welch, in the production of "The Peddler," gives a life-like portrayal of this type of Jewish character so often seen on the East Side of New York. His work, while not as finished as that of David Warfield, compares very favorably with the characterization of that actor. The play is one of the best that Hal Reid has written. There must have been a restraining hand on the playwright when he was engaged in turning out this dramatic composition. There are, not the usual number of melodramatic thellis that are generally found in the Hal Reid plays. usual number of meiodramate tribs that are generally found in the Hal Rold plays. The piece does not lack action and strong climaxes, so necessary for a melodrama, but there is not nearly as much blood and thunder and deep-dyed villalny that, as but there is not hear a thunder and deep-dyed villainy that, as a rule, are the principal ingredients of plays of this class. The character frawing of Abraham Jacobson—the part played by Mr. Welch, is very good, and some of the lines are entirely beyond the hackneyed speeches which so often fall to the lot of the characters in one of these "molos."

There is a voin of pathos beneath the comedy of Mr. Welch's portrayal of the Jowish peddien that makes his work worthy to be ranked with that of a character actor, rather than of a low comedian.

acter actor, rather than of a low comedian.

The other roles of the play are in capalive hands. Mary Noble, as "Salome Wyandotto," was far superior to the usual "heavy woman" of a popular price production. Nina Harrington won many laughs for her impersonation of "Lige Barclay," which was amusing, but not a clever character portrayal of this type of the East Side. Francis McGrath played with sweet childish simplicity
"Little Mary," the blind girl.
There will be a\mathred maince to-day, and the production will continue for the remainder of the week.

Literary and artistic circles, as well as the Candida.

Literary and artistic circles, as well as the regular theatregoers of the city, will well-come the announcement that New York's comedy micess of list season will be presented at the Academy Thursday mittnee and sight.

"Candia" is the title of the comedy, and George Bernard Shaw its author. The characteristic of the ordinary, the linear of the common season out of the ordinary, the linear of the common season of the investment of the mountains. Nor will it serve only as a stimulant for jaded minds; it will act to the mountains. Nor will it serve only as a stimulant for jaded minds; it will stir them up by excling some of the livelest thinking that has been engaged in for many a day.

"Polly Primrose."

Miss Adelaide Thurston in Paul Hilstach's

Miss Adelaide Thurston in Paul Hilstach's clever comedy "Polly Primrose," will be the selection at the Academy next Saturday matinee and night.

Miss Thurston's present tour through the South is a repetition of her forner triumpils, and she will undoubtedly be greeted here by a crawded house. Her supporting company is practically the same as last season, and the same beautiful production is carried.
